AWAIT SURRENDER OF LIBBY HOLMAN

DEMS SELECT SEN. BULKLEY AS KEYNOTER

Plans Completed for Ohio Platform Convention in Columbus Aug. 19.

ROOSEVELT ON PROGRAM

Presidentital Nominee Slated for Address Saturday: Radio To Carry Speech.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley was selected today as keynoter and temporary chairman of the Ohio democratic state platform convention opening here, August 19.

Walter F. Heer, chairman of the arrangements committee, announced selection of Bulkley.

After discussing state and national issues in his address, the senator will introduce Gov. George White, who is expected to undertake in his speech an accounting of the accomplishments of his administration, stressing his assertion that $9,000,000 has been saved.

Other speakers will include Lieut. Gov. William G. Pickrell of Dayton; George F. Myers of Cleveland, a candidate for secretary of state; Daniel Butler of Toledo, candidate for state auditor; Joseph T. Ferguson of Lancaster, candidate for state treasurer; Herbert Duffy of Columbus, candidate for attorney general; Charles V. Truax of Bucyrus, and Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, candidates for congress at large; Carl V. Weygandt of Cleveland, candidate for chief justice of the state supreme court; Will Stephenson of West Union; Charles B. Zimmerman of Springfield and William F. Henderson of Kenton, candidates for supreme court judge.

The convention proper will open in the Columbus auditorium at 7 p. m. Friday, August 19.

Saturday morning's tentative program calls for the adopting of a state platform, and designating of presidential electors. It has not been decided definitely, but the convention probably will reconvene Saturday afternoon at the new baseball stadium of the Columbus American Association club, for the address by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Local radio stations will carry the convention in full and two nationwide chains are completing arrangements to radiocast the speech of Governor Roosevelt.

FOUR REFORMATORY MATRONS ARE HURT

Three Injured Seriously as Automobile Overturns in Ditch Near Richwood.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, O., Aug. 5—Four matrons of the Marysville Women's reformatory were injured, three of them seriously, last night when their automobile skidded and overturned in a ditch southeast of here.

Mrs. Blanch Kilbury was still unconscious today at 10 a. m. at the reformatory hospital. She suffered internal injuries and a severe scalp cut.

Mrs. Minnie Brucks, who was pinned under the machine, suffered injuries to her back and hips while Mrs. Cora Meeks was seriously cut and bruised.

Mrs. Mabel Cunningham, owner and driver of the car, suffered only minor injuries.

The automobile skidded when Mrs. Cunningham attempted to turn onto another road off of route 4. They were on their way to Bucyrus.

They were taken to the reformatory hospital in two ambulances from the Winter funeral home.

"Banty" Rooster, Dog on Job in Poultry Houses

Pets Are Self-Appointed Guardians of Flocks; Work by Different Methods.

A BANTAM rooster owned by Underwood's poultry and egg exchange at 226 North Main street and "Bonzo," a mixed airedale and police dog owned by the R. A. Chapman & Co. poultry exchange perform valuable services for their owners.

Both are self-appointed guardians of the dozens of crates of chickens that pass through these exchanges each month.

Their jobs begin when a hen or rooster escapes from the crates in which poultry is handled. Both pets stay on the job until their charges are back in the coop.

The rooster and the dog use different methods to obtain the same results. The bantam apparently has made a study of chicken psychology, for he relies on a ruse, or his ability to coax to get many chickens back to their pens. When his persuasive calls fail to bring back the runaway, he goes in swift pursuit and virtually chases the offender back to the crate.

BONZO has no time to waste in sales talk, and apparently disregards the possibilities of coaxing. A few growls and half a dozen leaps after a running hen or rooster finishes his job. There is no ceremony. He simply runs down the runaway, takes it in his mouth firmly enough to hold it without injuring it, and carries it back to Mr. Chapman or his assistants.

The bantam has been on the job at Underwood's for five years. He is never cooped but is given free run of the building.

Occasionally the bantam will run to a point about 10 feet from

AWAIT RULING IN TRACK CASE

State Utilities Commission Defers Action in Marion-C., D. & M. Deadlock.

CITY DEMANDS REMOVAL

Company Plans "To Do Nothing"; No Date Named for Decision.

A state utilities commission order in the deadlock of the city of Marion and the C., D. & M. Electric Co over the disposition of the company's interurban tracks in this city was awaited today by both sides.

The commission took the matter of disposing of the rails under advisement yesterday after a hearing. During the hearing the city demanded that the tracks be removed and replaced with pavement, and the electric company officials announced they intended to do nothing with the tracks.

Members of the utilities commission appeared undecided on the matter today. A decision may not be given for a week or 10 days, information received from Columbus indicated.

The commission recently held that the company could abandon its Marion-Bucyrus division when an agreement with Marion and Bucyrus to dispose of the tracks had been reached.

Company "To Do Nothing"

L. C. Stang, vice president in charge of operations of the C., D. & M. Electric Co., yesterday testified that the company intended "to do nothing" with the tracks in Marion, planning only to remove the poles and wires.

Mr. Stang and C. C. Moyer of Delaware, superintendent of railways for the electric company, testified that the tracks and streets in Marion were in good condition.

E. O. Uncapher, city service director, contended that the tracks themselves were a hazard and should be removed.

City officials asserted that photographs of the tracks here introduced by Harry Evans, inspector for the commission, did not show the true condition of the tracks, and that sections of the tracks and right-of-way were traffic hazards.

Bucyrus Settles

The Bucyrus end of the case was closed at the hearing yesterday when the commission approved the agreement reached by Bucyrus and electric company officials to seal part of the tracks and remove an 800-foot section.

Mayor W. C. Phillians, Service Director Uncapher and City Solicitor Carter M. Patton represented Marion in the hearing. The electric company was represented by Mr. Moyer, Mr. Stang and W. P. Maloney, vice president and counsel.

SIX MILLION LOSS IN FIRE

Chicago Elevator and Packing Company Destroyed; Four Buildings Burn.

COMBUSTION IS BLAMED

More Than Thousand Head of Livestock Perish in Disastrous Blaze.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5— The flames of a six million dollar fire challenged six companies of firemen and the crews of three fire boats early today to put them out.

The fire, breaking out yesterday afternoon in the Quincy grain elevator, spread to the Omaha Packing Co. where it destroyed four buildings.

One fireman was seriously injured and 100 firemen and employes of the two companies were overcome by smoke.

Perishing in the flames were 800 hogs, 60 head of cattle, and 200 sheep. Destroyed also were 985,000 bushels of grain, 2,500,000 pounds of ham and bacon, 300 tons of fertilizers, and 2,500 hog carcasses. Three boats, tied up in the Chicago river nearby, were burned at a loss of $75,000.

The flames and dense clouds of smoke attracted thousands of spectators to "the yards." Police estimated more than 30,000 persons were packed into nearby streets.

As the wind quickened later in the evening the fire spread to a neighboring coal and lumber yards but firemen overcame the new menace and again confined the blaze to the packing plant and elevator.

Spontaneous combustion of "hot" wheat supposedly caused the fire. Dense clouds of red flames and smoke burst from the tall structure, scattering showers of embers down on the wooden peak of the packing plant. These were readily ignited.

Four city blocks were occupied by the concerns destroyed.

The Quincy grain elevator was owned by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad but was under lease to the Stratton Grain Co.

4 PERSONS KILLED AS CAR HITS POLE

By The Associated Press

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 5— One man and three youths, East Fairmont High school athletes, were killed early today when their automobile struck a pole. The dead are Wayne Morgan, 20, Richard Schultz, 16, and Tony Bilotta, 18.

The driver of the car, George Hutton, 21, is in a hospital hurt seriously, but physicians say he may recover.

The accident occurred in one of the city's main thoroughfares when Hutton failed to see a turn in a heavy fog.

START SEARCH FOR 4 MISSING IN MORROW CO.

Authorities Attempt To Locate Wife of Farmer and Three Children.

FAMILY ROW REPORTED

Tells of Disappearance After Uncle, Cousin Take Hogs at Guns' Point.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 5—The wife of a Morrow county farmer and three children who disappeared last night after a dispute between the woman's husband and her relatives, were being sought by authorities today. The woman's uncle and her cousin who are accused of taking five hogs from her husband yesterday afternoon at the point of guns also were sought.

The missing woman is Mrs. John Law of south of here. The children are those of Charles Hull, her uncle, who had been living with the Law family several months. Hull and Cleil L. Gilbert, a Sunbury trucker and first cousin of Mrs. Law, yesterday afternoon threatened Law with a shotgun and a revolver while they took five of his hogs to satisfy an alleged debt Law owed Gilbert, Sheriff Charles E. Miller said.

While Law and a neighbor went to Mt. Gilead to learn what legal steps would be necessary to get his hogs back, Law's wife and Hull's three children disappeared, presumably with Hull and Gilbert in the truck, the sheriff said.

Hull held a shotgun, Gilbert an automatic pistol while they loaded Law's hogs into their truck, Law and a neighbor told authorities. During the argument, Gilbert struck Law over the head with the butt of his gun, Law said.

Gilbert this morning was seen in Sunbury, where his automatic pistol was found by officers. Authorities said he saw them coming, and fled. They also received word that Gilbert had called his wife from Galena this morning, telling her to dispose of the "hardware," presumably the gun, he had discarded there.

Delaware county officials today were asked to join in the search for the two men, Mrs. Law and the children.

The Law family moved into Morrow county a year ago from a southern state, authorities said. Law, Sheriff Miller said, is 50 and his wife is 28. Several months ago, authorities learned, Hull and his children came to live with the Law family and have been there since.

Law and the neighbor who witnessed the argument said Gilbert and Hull had been drinking.

STOCKS AGAIN GAIN; PRICES UP $2 TO $5

Deluge of Buying Orders Gives Market Stronger Tone Than Yesterday.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 — Another deluge of buying orders swamped the stock market today, sending many leaders $2 to more than $5 higher in extremely active trading.

The early market was much stronger than yesterday's, buying poured into all groups of shares, although individual transactions were rather moderate in size.

There was some hesitation at the opening, but it lasted scarcely three minutes when the stampede to buy began.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—Ohio's treasury has a balance of $3,391,726, State Treasurer Harry S. Day said in his monthly report.

Traders Caught Napping by Sudden Gain of Stocks

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—Rarely has an important upswing in the stock market caught so much of Wall street napping as has the advance of the past month.

Not only have the bears been surprised, but a number of traders who felt that a substantial rally might be in the making and hoped to get into the market at the proper time, found the market running away on the upside before they could reshape their positions.

Other traders who had failed to get in near the bottom waited for a substantial reaction, and have disheartened as stocks have leaped skyward in the throes of sharp advances.

The many skeptical traders have been dismayed by the way the market has continued to forge ahead, on general belief that some sort of [illegible] precedent is lacking in recent market history in a similar period of time.

This group has felt that there must be a joker to it somewhere. They have felt that it must be politics, or incipient inflation, or some other obscure, all-determining force.

One investment banker who was among the select group that successfully called the turn, and who not caught off guard, says there is nothing particularly mysterious about it. He says stocks were forced down to their extremely low levels by a combination of fear over the outlook of gold, foreboding over balancing the budget, and the apprehension of the bulk of typical business executives. Most gold is for hoarding, the budget has been a ghost of fear for the short session of congress, and executives of the business population generally [illegible]

ACCUSED IN REYNOLDS DEATH

After an absence of several weeks from newspaper front pages, the Smith Reynolds death mystery case came back into the spotlight late yesterday when the grand jury at Winston-Salem, N. C., indicted the widow, Libby Holman Reynolds (above) and Albert Walker (below), Reynolds' former chum, on a charge of slaying Reynolds. Three photos of Mrs. Reynolds shown above picture her in different poses in her Broadway stage roles.

TRUCKS AWAIT VETS AT OHIO BOUNDARY

Bonus Forces Assured Ride Across State; Some Already Enroute.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—Seventy Ohio National Guard and highway trucks were at the eastern borders of the state today awaiting the arrival of members of the bonus expeditionary force traveling westward after their forced departure from Washington last week.

The trucks, in which the bonus marchers will be transported across the state to the Indiana line, were manned yesterday when West Virginia authorities notified Gov. George White that part of the "army" had reached Huntington.

Most of the vehicles were at Chesapeake, O., across the Ohio river from Huntington. Others were at Bridgeport, opposite Wheeling. War veterans driving their own cars will be supplied with gasoline and oil.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, O., Aug. 5—William "Whitey" Parmer, 32, of Marysville, has confessed to taking part in the robberies of the Richwood Farmers' Deposit bank last Oct. 23 and the Glouster postoffice, according to Prosecutor Guyn Sanders. Parmer was taken to Columbus Thursday to face the postoffice charge in federal court.

Parmer, the last member of the Frank Circone gang, was captured after a 10-month search. He also is charged with complicity in the robbery of the Hesseman & Sons jewelry store in Columbus.

He was picked up this week in Toledo by a policeman on suspicion. Authorities identified him as the man wanted for robbing the Richwood Farmers Deposit bank.

After leaving Columbus the night Circone was arrested, Parmer went to Chicago, thence to Colorado and Los Angeles. He later came back east, stopping at Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., and Norfolk, Va., Sanders said. Police said he confessed his part in the Glouster postoffice robbery of Oct. 15 when $560 was stolen. The postmaster was kidnaped by members of the Circone gang and forced to open the postoffice safe. His wife was held prisoner and her death later was believed to be from the effects of the shock.

My Beauty Hint

BY JOAN CRAWFORD

IN the looking glass we see ourselves as others do, but it's a bit more difficult to get a glimpse of the back we turn to the public during the evening hours.

This often results in our giving more attention to our faces and less to our backs—a serious oversight.

I have found daily soap and water baths very beneficial to the back, especially when the water is warm and lots of soap is used. A long-handled back brush insures reaching the spinal column while a rough bath towel freshens the skin. A dusting of powder adds to the beauty of the back.

A new-type sprayer has been invented by Rex Research. It is adapted to FLY-TOX only, and made to multiply the economy and efficiency of this famous household spray.

Each plunge of this new sprayer throws out 250,000 particles of FLY-TOX in the form of a floating mist—not tiny droplets, like sprayers of old. That mist fills the room like a cloud of steam. It reaches every nook and corner where flies or mosquitoes lie, then gently falls.

These pests cannot escape it, and all perish at its touch. The room is completely cleared. And the cost is a trifle—a penny or two—because this new-type sprayer makes FLY-TOX go so far.

This is so important to you and yours that we shall present one new-type sprayer to every housewife who presents the coupon to us within the next five days. No charge, no obligation. Please accept this offer for the safety of your home.

Kills all Flies

And Mosquitoes—Quickly—by a Mist Based on Extracts from Japanese Flowers

Modern research has discovered that a certain Oriental flower yields an extract which no insect pest can tolerate.

At Mellen Institute there has been developed by Rex Research Fellowship a room spray based on that discovery. Ten years and more than $100,000 have been spent in perfecting it.

The name of this spray is FLY-TOX. It is the greatest help the ages have developed in our war on insect pests.

Winged Insects Can't Escape

FLY-TOX, used in the new-type FLY-TOX sprayer, fills the room with a perfumed mist. A mist that flows, like a cloud of steam, to reach every nook and cranny of the room. Then it slowly falls, so no fly or mosquito can escape.

That mist kills every insect that it touches. Yet it is harmless to people, stainless to anything. It clears the room, and quickly. And it is so efficient, used in this way, that the cost is only 1 or 2 cents per room.

Death Chamber Tests

At Rex Research Laboratories, every batch of FLY-TOX is tested before going out. It is tested in a chamber filled with flies and mosquitoes. Just as you use it in a room. If every insect does not perish quickly, that lot of FLY-TOX is rejected. So every can that reaches you is sold under guarantee.

Flies and mosquitoes are your deadliest insect enemies. Flies—bred in filth—carry germs. More than 30 diseases are now traced to germs which they convey. The germs are left on foods, and tens of thousands of children, every year, die from the effects.

Mosquitoes puncture the skin, leaving poisons. Perhaps germs they have sucked from others. Some of the greatest epidemics have been caused by mosquito bites.

FLY-TOX offers you supreme defense against them. Use no lesser help when the safety of your home is at stake.

Cut out this coupon, sign and bring it to our store, and the best hand sprayer ever known is free.

Can be used with FLY-TOX ONLY or with MOTH-TOX, Rex Research Products

She laughed mirthlessly.

"You thought in fact, that a little perfect had done me good, is that it? That I had fallen desperately in love with you all at once . . ."

Anderson did not answer for a moment, then suddenly he stooped and lifted her to her feet again, keeping his arms about her.

"Don't hurt me any more Sondra . . . I love you so much. Oh, my dear, don't hurt me any more—if you knew how I've wanted you—Sondra—"

She tried to fight against him, tried in vain to hold him back. "Don't . . . oh, please don't . . . Oh, you mustn't. . . ."

Anderson laughed triumphantly. "Mustn't . . . when I've waited so long—"

She looked up at him with desperate eyes—

"John—" but her words were silenced against his lips.

A sudden flashing thought swept through Sondra's mind. "Mark never kissed me like this . . . it wasn't the same . . . nobody has ever made me feel like this—"

She closed her eyes with a queer feeling that she was floating on air—that nothing was real any more but this man and the close pressure of his arms, conscious all the time of a great feeling of rest and happiness, as if out of utter darkness, two hands had been stretched out to find her and hold her safe.

Suddenly memory returned, and with a sharp cry of pain she slipped out of his arms. They looked at one another silently, and into Sondra's mind flashed the thought that she had never seen him look so young, so happy.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, Aug. 6

A LIVELY and interesting day is forecast from the lunar and mutual aspects, with a very desirable breaking up of old congestions and long crystallized state of affairs. There may be important opportunities, or assistance from old institutions or elderly persons, but be not rash, tempestuous or impulsive in plunging headlong or passionately into anything that might mar the hard won advantages. This also applies in private affiliations where too great attack may promote folly.

Those whose birthday it is may have a lively and eventful year, following a time of stagnation and crystallization. There may be solid assistance from old institutions or elderly persons, but these prospects may be jeopardized by hasty conduct. A child born on this day should be diligent, faithful, practical and dependable, but may be prone to rash and impetuous conduct both in private and business contacts.

MOTHER 55 AT BIRTH OF SON

Cord, Ireland, Woman After Title as Oldest Mother.

By United Press

LONDON.—Having given birth to her first child when she was 55 years and 40 days old, Mrs. Mary Higgins, of Cord, Ireland (she lives on Blarney street) bids fair to win the prize offered by a London newspaper for information on the "oldest mother" during the last 20 years.

Thus far, the runner-up is Mrs. Elizabeth Penny, of Syworth, Southampton, whose youngest child was born when she was 54 years and 40 days old.

The paper calls attention to an old advertisement in the Royal Cornwall Gazette of Jan. 2, 1818, reporting the birth of twins, at Christmas eve, to Mrs. George Saunders, wife of a London distiller, in the fifty-ninth year of her age. She had previous children born 40 years before that.

The oldest record, however, is set in the Book of Genesis, where it is recorded that Sarah, wife of Abraham was 90 years old when she bore her son, Isaac, who would have the prize by just about 40 of the very best years.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Hugh Grantland Controls His Anger and Tells Madge She Must Obey Dicky's Command, and Not Share in the Night Rescue.

"PLEASE be in readiness from 9 o'clock on."

Hugh had spoken the words, but they echoed in my brain as if they were thunder. No longer could I put off the issue that they raised. I must tell him at once that I could not be one of the rescue expedition.

It seemed impossible to find words in which to couch my announcement. I neither wished to make the refusal my own responsibility, nor to acknowledge the humiliating truth—that I was not a free agent in the matter. As I hesitated, I was conscious of Hugh's keen eyes searching my face, then he spoke quickly, tensely.

"What is the matter? You are troubled about something!"

Madge Must Tell

He had no inkling of the truth. I saw that as clearly as I also saw that, for the moment, he had put aside the mission upon which he had been concentrating every faculty, and was considering only my possible pain. I must not take his sympathy hypocritically, and I blurted out the truth.

"Yes, I am sorely troubled, because—I—can't go with you tonight."

His lips tightened, the only indication of unpleasant surprise he ever betrays, and it was only after several interminable seconds of silence that he spoke.

"Mary I know why, or is the reason one which you prefer not to give me?"

The Whole Truth

I did not stop to analyze the feeling that I would infinitely prefer not to give him the reason for my defection. I was dimly conscious that perhaps loyalty to Dicky should make me shield his part in the spoiling of Hugh's plans. But the memory of many dangers shared with this old friend, and of the signal services he had rendered me, made me most reluctant thus to stultify myself to him.

"My husband insists that I must stay at the hotel tonight," I said simply.

I heard a sibilant breath from Hugh, but no other sound, then there was another silence that I could not stand.

"He thinks both of us should not be out there tonight, for fear of—something happening," I said nervously. "He is thinking of the children, you know."

"I—dare—say." The words came slowly, and I wondered if I imagined that they were delicately tipped with the venom of suspicion that Dicky was less concerned with my safety and the children's welfare, than with the fact that I would be closely associated with Hugh if I shared in the sortie upon the kidnaper's hide-out.

I dared not speak, for I was terrified at his silence. It was like sitting breathless in the ominous hush that precedes a cyclone. I knew that black anger was riding him, and that he was silent because he feared to loosen even for a second the rein he was holding over his temper; but when it seemed to me that I could no longer hold back a nervous shriek, he spoke in his normal, courteous manner.

"Shall we go back now? And will you let me drive? You are hardly up to it, I think, and I am afraid you will need all your strength to persuade Lillian that she must not go with us tonight, but must keep Mrs. Brixton from suspecting anything. Instead. And will you send Harry to me as soon as possible?"

"Yes," I choked the word out, and he turned to me quickly.

"Why, there are tears in your eyes!" he exclaimed. Tell me, did I say or do anything to wound you? Don't you know that I wouldn't—couldn't—hurt you?"

"It isn't anything you said or did, Hugh," I told him, when I could force my voice to speech. "It's because I am failing you in this piece of work. I can't bear being a quitter."

He muttered a quick anathema, then put his hand for an instant over mine.

Hugh's Creed

"Please don't call yourself that," he said earnestly. "Don't I know the brave, golden heart of you? But your husband is right. I suppose. At any rate, there is but one thing for you to do, and that is to obey him. Perhaps—he may change his mind."

I shook my head. "Please, let us go home now," I said, and silently we changed places. But during that short drive, one oddly alien thought — at least it had no place in the present stress—kept intruding itself upon my consciousness.

In Hugh's creed, there was but one thing for a wife to do when there was a clash of marital wills—obey her husband. If I had been his wife instead of Dicky's in the present crisis, I wondered what his attitude would have been, and I decided, not for the first time, that Hugh was far more rigidly archaic in his ideas of women than was my Peter Pan. — Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

GASCO HOLDS TOP IN INDUSTRIAL CIRCUIT WITH 8-0 DECISION

Shovel Retains Slight Titular Hope by Trouncing Huber; Erie Wins.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

The Marion Steam Shovel company softball team has little chance of capturing the pennant in the industrial league but the Diggers apparently intend to hang around until the last minute so if opportunity taps on the door they will be right there to let him in. The Shovel retained a mathematical chance of finishing the season in a deadlock with the Gasco club by taking a 9-1 decision from the Huber Manufacturing company yesterday.

The Gasco, on the other hand, apparently has no intention of giving the Shovel another chance at the flag. The league leading combine went out and smothered the Augenstein A. C. under an 8-0 score to hold the one game lead.

In the only other game played the Erie Mechanics turned back the Excavator-Alloy 10-3 for the second win of the season. The Eagles and C., D. & M. did not play, their game having been postponed on account of several members of the Eagles being with the O. N. G. at Camp Perry.

If Augenstein A. C. hadn't taken the entire first inning to get settled down the Gasco club might not have had such easy sailing. As it happened, the Gassers shoved seven tallies across in the first frame and with that lead to work on there isn't a team in the city that can beat the utilities organization. Shorty Richards held the Augenstein batters well in check all the way.

The heavy Steam Shovel bats found the slants of Crabtree and Kellogg not particularly puzzling as they slammed out eight hits to score a 9-1 victory. Three Huber errors also proved a big help to the Shovel. Zig Snyder allowed the losers only three safeties.

After going through practically the entire season without getting much more at the plate than a lot of exercise the Erie Mechanics turned loose and banged the Excavator-Alloy into submission with a barrage of base knocks that finally resulted in a 10-3 decision for the railroaders. One big inning, the third, provided six runs for the Erie, but the railroaders kept right on going even with this big lead. The Excavators was shut out until the fifth inning.

FINLAND BATTLING TO SAVE PRESTIGE

Finnish Racing Stars Thus Far Have Failed To Display Expected Form.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 5—Finland's last-ditch fight to save at least one bright jewel out of the wreckage of its foot racing crown today shared the Olympic spotlight with the third episode of the rivalry between Bill Carr and Ben Eastman, American 400-meter aces.

No slackening of the track and field record breaking carnival was in sight. The thousands who have been watching the astounding Olympic spectacle from the outset have come to mingle laughter with their cheers to greet announcer's refrain "Creating a new Olympic and world record."

Statistics reveal that 45 record performances have been announced in 17 track and field events for men and women.

Yesterday Luigi Beccali won the 1,500 meters in the Olympic record time of 3:51.2, for Italy's first Olympic foot racing victory of all time.

Matti Jarvinen hit the first successful Finnish thrust with an Olympic javelin throw of 238 feet 7 inches.

BEN EASTMAN

Jap Breaks Record

Chuhei Nambu of Japan, the world record broad jumper, added the hop, step and jump championship and world crown to his credit, with a mark of 51 feet, 7 inches.

Finally, America's own Mildred Babe Didrikson scampered to her second world record victory, in the 80-meter hurdles, in 11.7 seconds.

BILL CARR

This Olympiad so far has dealt a stunning series of blows to the footracing prestige that Finland developed so sensationally after the war.

First was the banishment of Paavo Nurmi, on the very eve of the games, destroying Finland's best chances to win the 10,000 meters and marathon.

Then came Ino Holle's defeat Sunday by the Polish star, Jan Kusocinski in the 10,000. Yesterday the 1,500 meter crown passed for the first time to an Italian while Finland's defending champion, Harry Larva, finished in the ruck along with his two compatriots, Purje and Lehmanen.

With Nurmi and Willie Ritola, no longer present to carry on, Finland's 5,000 meter hopes rested squarely upon young Lehtinen. The map they feared most, for the first time, as an American, Ralph Hill of Oregon, still holder of the national outdoor mile record.

Yet to be run, of course, are the 3,000 meter steeplechase and ramachon, but in these events, too the opposition for the Finns is stronger than ever, encouraged no doubt by the growing conviction that the cloak of Finnish invincibility has been removed.

Carr, Eastman to Duel

Meanwhile the Americans had their own private war to settle, between Eastman and Carr, each with a weather eye out meanwhile for the slim Englishman, Lieutenant Godfrey Isomel Rampling.

Rampling didn't look so impressive in the trials yesterday, even under wraps and there has been nothing yet to prove he can touch the record smashing performances of Carr and Eastman. Englishmen however, have a way of winning foot races.

Run in lanes from "staggered" starts, the Olympic 400 favors Eastman's striding style but it has yet to be proved he can travel as fast as Carr when the final "kick" is called for.

Carr has whipped Eastman twice in world record time this season. The majority of observers think he can do it again. Yesterday Carr and Eastman each won two trial heats in common canters.

Despite Babe Didrikson's world record victory over Evelyn Hall, in the 80 meter hurdles, the fifth day of the Olympic track and field championships was a big let-down for the United States forces, which had completely dominated the previous day's program. In the men's team battle, America picked up only eight points and lost one the decision putting Finland England ahead of Keller, U. S. in 110 meter high hurdles.

The revised total for the United States, for 16 men's events in five days, was 158 points. Finland moved into second place, with 35 to Great Britain's 31, and Japan advanced to fourth position with 28, followed by Canada and Ireland, 23 each.

In the women's division meanwhile, the American team score increased by 18 points in the hurdles jeaped to 81½, as compared with Germany's total of 15½ in second place.

MINNEAPOLIS SLIPS IN ASSOCIATION RACE

Columbus, Indianapolis Pick Up Full Game on League Leaders.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—The Kansas City Blues today had another mark for the American Association record book.

Last night in taking an 8 to 1 beating from Indianapolis, the Blues made only two hits off Johnny Cooney, and did not have a single man left on base. Three men got on, but two were forced out en-route, and the other, Pat Collins, tripled and scored on an infield out for the only Blue run.

Both Indianapolis and Columbus gained a full game on the league leading Minneapolis club. The Millers tied the score against Toledo in the ninth inning, but the Mud Hens rammed over the winning run for a 7 to 6 victory.

Columbus lore into Leslie Munns for a commanding lead in the first three innings and wound up with a nine to four victory over St. Paul. The victory went to Red Parmalee and was his fourth straight since donning the Red Bird uniform.

CHOCOLATE WINNER OVER EDDIE SHEA

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 Kid Chocolate, Cuba's boxing flash, today had caught up with victory and with his first championship fell.

The "Kood" came into possession of the junior lightweight title sometime since, but no bell was he until General John V. Clinton referred one about him last night, after he had belted Eddie Shea, Chicago Italian, all about the ring to win a 10-round decision in defense of the title. His last bout resulted in a widely disputed decision defeat by Jackie (Kid) Berg, in New York.

ROBIN REED RETURNS TO BATTLE ASHBY ON MONDAY RING CARD

Popular Coast Welterweight To Appear in Main Go; Vangler in Semi-Final.

Robin Reed of Reedsport, Ore., holder of the Mid-West Wrestling association welterweight belt will defend his trophy against the challenge of the tough Chicago welterweight Spike Ashy, on next Monday night at Shovel Arena heading an all-star card.

Reed fresh from a flying trip to his home section of the country where he registered four consecutive triumphs against the outstanding welterweights of the Pacific coast, will go against the bull like Chicagoan in the pink of condition and ready for the toughest of opposition.

Reed'll have to be ready for just that for Ashby has established himself during the past month as just about the roughest, toughest, bundle of welterweight wrestling machinery that has hit this section of the woods in many months.

His great series of duels here with the sensational Sammy Vangler will live long in the memory of local fans.

Ashby, twice whipped Vangler, beating him once in an orthodox wrestling encounter and then knocking him out in a battle with the gloves.

Previous to Ashby's advent here, Vangler had been looked upon as the roughest and toughest of the tough but the leather skinned warrior from the Windy city effectually, tamed Vangler and has established himself as an outstanding challenger for Reed's belt.

Vangler will appear on Monday night's semi-final tilt, meeting the crack Bobby Novack in a two out of three falls, 45 minute limit engagement.

Vangler is avowedly after another crack at Reed, either here or any where else he can get Reed in the same ring.

Vangler says Ashby hit him in the Adam's apple when he knocked him out in a recent battle here and that he wasn't knocked out at all but just couldn't get his breath.

"I'll take this Novack so quick it won't even be funny and then Ashby or anybody else standing between me and a shot at Reed."

CAREY SEMI-PROS WILL PLAY SUNDAY

Don Donelson's Semi-pros of Carey will play the Kinsey & France ball club at the rubber plant diamond Sunday in a 'grudge' game. The latter team has challenged the Semi-pros to a game on the winner-take-all basis.

Ferner will do the flinging for the Semi pros with Fremont working for the opposition. Several new players have been added to the Donelson team for the game.

Reformed Nine Wins.

Two games were played yesterday in the Intermediate softball league. First Reformed won from St. Mary No. 2, 7-3 and Wesley M. E. shut out Forest Lawn, 7-0.

Japanese baseball players always remove their caps before addressing an umpire, according to Ray Fisher, University of Michigan baseball coach.

SENIOR LOOP RACE TIGHTENS AS BUCS DROP SIXTH IN ROW

O'Doul's Big Bat Clubs Out Three Homers To Beat Pittsburgh.

By The Associated Press

The first serious slump the Pittsburgh Pirates have experienced since the middle of May has turned the National league pennant race into a dog fight with four clubs close enough to the Corsairs to be dangerous.

Having lost a double header to Brooklyn yesterday, the Pirates lead over the Cubs had shrunk to three and a half games. Two others, Boston Braves and Philadelphia followed at distances ranging from 5½ to 7 games.

Three home runs by Lefty O'Doul beat the Pirates and stretched their losing streak to six games. The Phillies, at Chicago, decided the first game Brooklyn's favor 7-4. Pittsburgh in the eighth inning of the second game tied the score, and Brooklyn won the game in the tenth 6-5.

In the American league Babe Dickey celebrated his return to the New York Yankees lineup after a 30-day suspension by walloping a home run and three singles and driving in five runs as the league leaders crushed Chicago 15-3.

Chicago Prices Shoot Upward in Early Morning Trading.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug 5—Grain prices shot upward early today, responsive to New York stock market bulges and reports of unfavorable harvest weather in Europe. Further talk of a commodity pool being organized was also a bullish factor together with buroing of 800,000 bushels of wheat in a Chicago elevator fire Opening 1@1¼ higher wheat afterward rose further Corn started 1@1¼ up and continued firm

In a general buying rush, wheat went up quickly 2 cents a bushel before beginning to fluctuate Notice was taken of a report that a $30,000,000 pool was being organized to support commodity prices

Meanwhile, unusual buying force developed in the corn pit Despite active profit taking sales on fresh upturns bears made little headway Suggestions were heard that much purchasing of corn especially September delivery, was for traders who recently had been large sellers Oats borrowed firmness from corn and wheat

Provisions were little changed

CASH FOR UNCLE

Quick Market Rise Records Federal Tax Success.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug 5—Uncle Sam hopes the stock market says bullish and busy—it means money in his pockets.

The stock market turnover yesterday, totaling 3,552,900 shares, netted the federal treasury a minimum of $3,660,000. Actuaries expect this fiscal year's revenues from stock and bond transfers as well as new issues to reach $81,000,000.

The stock tax is five cents on every share priced for more than $50 and four cents if the price is less than that; bond transfers bring four cents on each $200, new issues 10 cents each for $100 of par value.

RAPIDAN READY FOR CAMPAIGN

Hoover Aids To Enjoy Informality in Mountain Retreat

BY BESS FURMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Hoover version of a front porch campaign will be week-end mountain-retreat conferences, bringing even more sharply to the news foreground his Rapidan camp.

"Campaigners" called there can take along their old clothes and thank their lucky stars to be invited to a place so cosy and comfortable.

Contemplating its rustic beauty and "citified" efficiency, they are almost certain to be amazed at the way a President turned pioneer and wrested a home from the primitive wilderness

Basking in its coolness, guests will find it perhaps hard to believe they are within 100 miles of hot and humid Washington

"Pioneered" Camp Begins

While still secretary of commerce, Herbert Hoover used to look at the Blue Ridge haze and think that there probably lay a place where he could fish for trout, sit in the cool shade and eat and sleep to the sound of rushing waters

The exactions of the presidency made the need for such a retreat imperative, and the President, with Mrs Hoover, went prospecting and found the spot.

Remarkably enough, the Virginia mountains never had been opened to such camping, perhaps due to the hard times which remained after the Civil war, delaying for many years a modern road building program

Notables Built Dams

Like other pioneers, the President and Mrs Hoover had plenty of hardships, for throughout the first summer the rain was almost incessant. Living in canvas tents they plodded about in mud. They shivered in sweaters Their cars stuck on the trails

Most of their adventures never saw print, but such as did made interesting reading. The President and cabinet members lugged stones to build the little dams that now make Rapidan waters even more rushing. Colonel Chas A Lindbergh helped as did Premier Ramsay MacDonald.

But that's history There's no tenderfooting now

White House limousines luxuriously speed the guests right to the rustic veranda of "Town Hall," recreation center of the tree-hidden cluster of cottages high on the mountain-side Mrs. Hoover, thoughtful hostess is usually there to give personal greetings. Filipino boys bear klinking pitchers of fruit punch.

Cottages Quaintly Named

Guests are quartered in wood-brown cottages, each with bedroom, living room with fireplace and modern bath—each with its own quaint name done in carved wood letters, "The Oak" "The Creel," "Prime Minister Cabin" "Ishbel's Cabin" "The Slums" and "Five Tents."

Mrs. Hoover's secretaries and her close circle of friends who know the camp and all its landmarks serve as guides. Walking is a delight along smooth paths, rock-bordered—trails made easy by the marines who take charge of the summer White House.

as smooth as in any hotel. Sleep.

Eating is lyric, under the trees, beside Hemlock run—with service beside the mountain quietude, is deep Pomp is forgotten.

Straw Hats In Vogue

Mrs Hoover, in sports dress and flat-heeled shoes, supplies all her guests with broad-brimmed, rough straw hats—the kind that country people wear—and those who put them on quit being clothed right there and become bona fide campers

The most delightful camp spot of all is one of the campaigners are likely to frequent the verandа of the President's cabinet. It is built over the Junction of Laurel Prong and Mill Prong, where they come rushing together over rocks to form the Rapidan

Here is an abundance of easy chairs but somehow guests always want to sit on the home-made wooden stools carved with habit holes in their tops to make them easy to move around.

President and Mrs Hoover are shown below on the front porch of their cottage on the banks of the Rapidan, where much of the strategy for the coming campaign is likely to be formulated Above is a view of the Hoovers' cottage in its woodland setting

M'ALLISTER LEADS IN TENNESSEE ELECTION

State Treasurer Ahead In Democratic Gubernatorial Race by Big Margin.

NASHVILLE Tenn. Aug. 5 — State Treasurer Hill McAllister of Nashville held a lead early today of approximately 6 000 votes over his fellow-townsman, Lewis S Pope, in the bitter fight for the Democratic nomination for governor of Tennessee

Returns from 1,948 of the 2,257 precincts gave McAllister 99 928, Pope 93,567, Judge Malcolm R. Patterson of Memphis 53 138 and Rufus Campbell of Ripley, newcomer to state politics, trailing

Pope refused to concede nomination to McAllister and issued a statement charging he was the Democratic nominee "despite wholesale frauds in Nashville and Memphis" A plurality only is needed to nominate in Tennessee

In the Republican race for the governor's nomination, John R McCall of Memphis was well in the lead over Hal Clements of Knoxville

Mrs E E Eslick appeared victor in the special election to serve out her late husband's term in congress from the sixth district. She led her nearest opponent, Jno Garner by nearly 2 000 votes in 379 of 252 precincts

3 MILLION ASKED IN DAMAGE ACTION

Kellogg Company Sues National Biscuit in New York.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug 5—Suit for $3,000,000 damages was filed in federal court today by the Kellogg company of Battle Creek, Mich against the National Biscuit company

The papers filed constituted only the notice of the suit but Crichton Clarke, attorney for the Kellogg company, said that the action was based upon alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act by the Shredded Wheat company, which is controlled by the National Biscuit company

It was alleged the Kellogg company had been damaged to the extent of approximately $1,000,000, the amount demanded being trebled under permission given by the Sherman anti-trust act in civil actions growing out of alleged violations of the act.

The National Biscuit combine recently brought suit in Wilmington, Del., against the Kellogg company, alleging unfair practice in the marketing of a product similar to the shredded wheat product, and labeling it "shredded." The action still is pending.

TRUSTY INDICTED IN PRISON BREAK

By The Associated Press

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., Aug 5—Archie Jones, short term trusty who organized the break for freedom that cost four convicts their lives yesterday, has been indicted for first degree murder.

The convict, serving a seven-year term for bank robbery, was charged with slaying a fellow convict-guard, Elsy Howell, who made a gesture to halt the escape. Jones was a trusty guard for 18 months with a perfect record

Officers who killed three of the escaped prisoners in the manhunt that followed the break, have been exonerated.

REPORT 30 MILLION DOLLAR WHEAT POOL

Chicago Traders Will Neither Deny or Confirm Story Current in Market.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—Reports of a $30,000,000 pool in wheat spread over the trading floor of the Chicago board of trade today, but neither confirmation nor denial was forthcoming

Arthur W. Cutler, veteran trader credited with directing the pool, was silent. So were his associates and other traders.

However, a wave of buying swept through the exchange at the opening and at least some of it was attributed to the pool report. Board of trade officials took no official cognizance of the report, but admitted hearing it.

Wheat prices shot up two cents at the opening and other grains followed in sympathy. The volume of trading for several days has been about 40,000,000 bushels a day, compared with 80,000,000 a week ago.

Traders said, however, the increased volume probably could be attributed to public buying on a rising market rather than to pool operations.

At the offices of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, wheat cooling organization sponsored by the federal government, officials said they hoped the report of pool operations was true.

"We'd be pleased if they could buy 30,000,000 wheat," said George S. Milner. "What is the use and make a little money."

TOLEDO, Aug. 5—The Toledo unit in a prominent feature of its recently laid-out market promotion campaign, John N. Willys, chairman of the board of the Willys-Overland Co. and former ambassador to Poland.

Announcing his views by radio last night, Mr. Willys predicted the Monday unit will be one of the prominent contributors to the gradual recovery now in progress, and pledged his aid in its support.

Mr. Willys said the United States recently has given ample signs of an upward progress from business depression. Now that has stopped the nation's course is going way to confidence, he found.

COMMITTEE AGAINST SLASH IN PERSONNEL

White Economy Group Opposes Less Workers in State Tax Division.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug 5 Stiff opposition to any reduction in the personnel of the state tax division and to any salary slashes for the judiciary, was voiced today before the joint committee on economy.

The committees, named by Gov. George White and the senate, are conducting hearings with a view to recommending economies in the special session of the legislature in September.

The four members of the tax commission appeared at today's session With one exception, they indicated they were willing to consider salary slashes, but were unanimous in opposition to any movement to reduce the number of employes in the division In fact, they said, they may ask for additional personnel because of the great amount of work thrown on the division by the new state tax law, and because many taxpayers are protesting appraisals

George C Braden, chairman of the commission, said that at the present time the division has between 1 500 and 1 600 complaints on real estate appraisements He expressed the belief that if the commission had additional personnel to put out into the state, tax receipts would be increased

Quincy Davis member of the commission said that if he had two additional inspectors at work he could collect $200,000 more a year in inheritance taxes alone He said the state and political subdivisions are losing money because of inadequate personnel in the tax division, and that funds were being lost in cigaret tax collections because the number of inspectors was cut from 48 to 36.

A. J. Kraus, in charge of the new intangible tax law division, intimated he might oppose any reduction in salaries in his department.

'JINX' INHABITS HOUSE

No Buyer Wants Mata Hari Home

By The Associated Press

PARIS Aug 5 No one wants to live in the house of the beautiful world war spy Mata Hari

Tempting offers of the property at a low price find no buyers The French believe the house of a spy carries a curse

So the home in stully a suburb of Paris stands desolate Its large garden is a mass of weeds Its stable houses a wine shop

It was there that Mata Hari who had dazzled Europe with her Javanese dances plotted for Germany From intimate lovers some in high stations she learned secrets that caused many of France best agents to be caught in Germany and revealed battle plans to the enemy

Spared Died with Her

No one knows whether it was for money or because of spite against the French that she took that course She carried the secret with her when a French firing squad snuffed out her life

Mata Hari first came under the suspicion of the British secret service and their French colleagues caught her by a simple trick

They walked until the last heavily at cards—this was a great gamble—and then offered her a large sum for information they said that she as a neutral could get from the Germans They instructed her to enter Germany by way of Spain sailing from a Spanish port

Returned to Spain

A British ship intercepted the boat and she told the British she was in the French secret service The French according to plan lost way watched with care Soon a telltale message was picked up saying that Agent 27 had tried to get to Germany and had been sent back by the British and asking instructions The reply picked up for the Allies by the secret German radio told Agent 27 to return to France and continue her mission

Mata Hari returned to France was arrested tried at Vincennes and condemned

Mata Hari who charmed war secrets from allied officials as she appeared when spying for Germany

denied this and she was sent back to Spain

INQUIRES INTO WHY RATS CHANGE COLOR

By International News Service

TUCSON Ariz—Seeking to learn what causes desert rats and mice to change their colors to match the rocks and earth about them Dr Lee R Bice noted zoologist of the University of Michigan has come to the Carnegie Institute of Washington near this city

Regardless of what part of the southwestern desert is visited Dr Bice has discovered that the coats of the rodents are exactly in harmony with the plant and soil life about them On white sands the rat is white In the lava fields on mountain sides creatures of the same species are dark brown The change aids the little animals to avoid hawks and other predatory birds

Hundreds of rats collected from territories far apart will be examined

Personal Qualifications of Presidential Nominees Under Fire

BY BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON Aug 5—Which issues may predominate in the end are matters and issues now seem certain to mix freely in the coming presidential campaign as the qualifications of Franklin D Roosevelt are weighed against those of Herbert Hoover

Although the electioneering has only begun the capabilities of both nominees already have been called into question by ranking opposition spokesmen During the last week the Democratic chairman James A Farley in a radio speech directly accused Mr Hoover of incompetence and inefficiency A group of Republican leaders in a broadside of statements charged Mr Roosevelt with deceit ignorance and unsound thinking

These are unusual words They serve to center public attention on the candidates and their public records

Prosperity Big Issue

It obviously is a part of the Democratic strategy to link the continuance of the depression directly with the Hoover administration and summon the public to vote against Hoover No less it is apparent is Republicans are seeking to prove Governor Roosevelt as weak uninformed and unsafe and ask for a verdict against Roosevelt

Coming events may change the whole course of the discussion During next week Mr Hoover will deliver his speech of acceptance and soon afterward Mr Roosevelt will begin dealing with the various issues in greater detail If construction programs are proceeded on either side before election may become entirely different

Wet Debate Certain

Certainly a measure of debate on the one issue of prohibition without much reference to personalities will follow what Mr Hoover says when he formally accepts the nomination here August 11 Certainly too Mr Roosevelt's decision in the case of Mayor Walker of New York will start a dispute which may or may not center on the personal equation

Awaiting these and other developments the two parties have spent most of the week period their campaign machinery watching the rising tide of security prices in Wall Street and the reaction of the country to the army eviction in Washington

How much the stock market boom may help the Republicans remains to be seen for the campaign is still three months away Democrat would deny that a real and continuing revival of public confidence would react in some or less degree to the benefit of administration In Washington The simply is the history of depressions

NEWSPAPERS, FILMS BLAMED FOR CRIME

Washington, D. C., Man Addresses Kiwanis Club at Weekly Meeting.

At the doorstep of the American newspaper and the moving picture show and not prohibition was laid the blame for the present crime wave by Guy Morse Bingham, of Washington, D. C. in a talk before members of the Kiwanis club at the weekly luncheon at the Hotel Marion yesterday.

The American newspaper, he told his audience, has been the most powerful factor in shaping the present crime wave while the influence of the picture show has been a powerful second.

The story of a holdup appearing on the front page of a newspaper, it was contended by the Washington man, exerts a psychological influence over the minds of young people which instills in them a desire to adopt similar tactics as a means of obtaining easy money. The moral which accompanies the end of crime pictures, he declared, is so weak in its purpose it was overlooked entirely. Instead of seeing the moral youths are imbued with a desire to become criminals, he said.

The speaker compared the present economic conditions to those faced by the soldiers of Washington's army at Valley Forge. "Anyone can march to success to the roll of drums and the blare of bands when he is fed and clothed, but the real test of a man is when, half-starved and shivering from the cold, he can carry on to victory."

NEW MINISTER OF SALEM CHURCH HERE

Rev. H. C. Ahrens of Aurora, Ind., will preach his first sermon at Salem Evangelical church Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

Rev. Ahrens arrived in Marion this afternoon to establish his residence in the parsonage on East Church street. His wife and family will join him some time later. He was elected by the church congregation to succeed Rev. Paul H. Bourquin who resigned to accept a pastorate at a larger church in Cleveland.

FIREMEN THANKED FOR AID AT KENTON

A letter expressing the appreciation of the city for the part taken by local firemen in fighting the conflagration Monday, together with a number of pictures taken at various stages of the fire, were received by Mayor W. C. Phillians this morning from George H. Lingrel, mayor of Kenton.

Mayor Phillians, with other city officials including Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, and local firemen who responded to a call for help sent here from Kenton, were the guests Monday afternoon of the city at an impromptu dinner arranged by Mayor Lingrel which included in the program several vocal selections by Robert B. Swisher, fireman at the central station.

CHANGE IN STREET NAME SIGNS SOUGHT

Committee Named by Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The possibility of remodeling street nameplates in Marion was discussed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night, and Clarence Hart, William Delbert and John Bush were named members of a committee to investigate means of financing the improvement.

Arrangements were made for a picnic along the Whetstone river near Claridon next Thursday night.

PICNIC PLANS MADE AT AUXILIARY MEET

All veterans of the camp and their families will be invited to the outing. Membership fees were established in a short business session. The auxiliary will meet Sept. 1.

MISS EBERT LEADS DEVOTIONAL MEET

Miss Evanne Ebert was leader at a weekly devotional meeting of the Young People's league of Salem Evangelical church last night in the church auditorium. The meeting was opened with songs and scripture reading, followed by prayer. Miss Ebert discussed "Problems of the Mission Fields." The meeting closed with prayer. Harold Hilterbrand will preside as leader at a meeting in one week.

To Hold Joint Picnic.

The Otterbein guild of the First United Brethren church will be joined in a picnic tonight at the Otterbein U. B. church park at Neumann, by the Fidelis class of the Sunday school. The picnic party will leave the church at 5:30 this afternoon. A picnic supper will be followed by games.

HUGE LOSS IN CHICAGO FIRE

ROOSTER AND DOG GUARDS OF POULTRY

Two Marion Pets Serve Owners But Use Different Tactics.

a runaway hen, rattle a stone in the driveway with his bill and speak a few words of rooster language which clearly mean, "Look what I've found." The curious hen is drawn nearer the pen when she goes to investigate, and before she is aware of it she has been led into the hands of Mr. Underwood or his helpers.

Bonzo has been doing this work for three years. He adapted himself to chicken catching when he started joining employes at the poultry exchange in running down hens and roosters that had escaped from pens.

When all is quiet with each chicken properly confined to his or her coop, he contents himself with gazing indifferently about or sitting quietly as if meditating upon the silliness of hens in general. But let one hen escape from any of the pens. He immediately becomes all action. He rushes to the front of his broad perch, gates down at the offending hen, flaps his wings, crows several times as if to call attention to what he is about to do, or for the purpose of creating awe in the bosom of the offending hen, and then flies to the concrete floor.

Taking up his position between the escaped hen and the broad doors which lead to the alley at the rear of the plant, the rooster dances about, flapping his wings as if threatening drastic action. If the hen should be large and indifferent to the wild gesticulations of her self-appointed guard and brush past him into the alley, he does not become discouraged. Keeping between the would-be runaway and her means of exit he continues his efforts to prevent her escape until the wandering fowl is returned to her pen.

Both Bonzo and the bantam rooster are pets. Both of them have the run of their respective buildings. The bantam copied his style of rounding up chickens from a large white rooster which preceded him in favor at the Underwood exchange. His job was purely one of his own choice, no effort having been made to teach him.

LARUE YOUTHS TO EXHIBIT AT FAIR

The Marion county chapter of the Future Farmers of America will again be represented at the Ohio state junior fair this year when exhibits will be entered by the LaRue chapter of the organization, it was announced yesterday by H. C. Hodson, vocational agriculture instructor of the LaRue High school.

The LaRue chapter, according to Hodson, was awarded fourth place on exhibits at the fair last year. This year prizes totaling $600 are being offered by the junior fair. It is expected that individual entries will be made by some of the boys in the livestock classes.

PLAN ATTENDANCE AT STATE MEETING

Plans for attending the annual state Elks convention at Cedar Point the last week in this month, were made at the meeting of Marion Lodge No. 32 B. P. O. E. last night. Sixteen delegates will represent the local lodge at the convention which will be featured by the annual parade on Thursday, Sept. 1, at Sandusky.

Plans were also discussed for the annual picnic of the lodge in McCurdy's grove north of the city. A definite date was not fixed but it is expected the picnic will be the latter part of this month.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hoskins of 880 Woodrow avenue are the parents of a son born this morning. The baby has been named Thomas Morgan Hoskins. Mrs. Hoskins was formerly Katherine Parker of Marion.

Tests in England have indicated that the skin of a dead sheep treated chemically can be made to produce better wool than a living animal for substance similar [illegible] necessary.

O'Shaughnessy Dam On Short Sunday Tour Route

Marion motorists who take advantage of pleasant Sundays for a sightseeing drive about Ohio should not overlook O'Shaughnessy's dam in southern Delaware county, Mrs. D. V. Gallegher, secretary of the Marion Auto club, said in selecting a route for next week-end's drive.

The city of Columbus has developed the natural beauty around the gigantic dam that stores its water supply in the Scioto river. Picnic grounds, boats and a bathing beach are available. The zoological garden on the east bank just north of the dam is growing steadily and is one of the most interesting sights in central Ohio.

If you enjoy a drive off the main roads, follow route 4 south from Marion to the intersection with route 203 just north of Prospect and then follow route 203 to the south to Delaware.

At Delaware, strike route 42 and follow it to a point just outside the city where it intersects with route 257. Follow route 257 southward to the dam.

Several return routes are available. One is to follow 257 southward through Dublin where it becomes route 31. Follow route 31 into Columbus along the River road. There are many beautiful homes and picturesque scenes along this drive into the city, and the drive passes through Upper Arlington, a beautiful residential district on the west edge of Columbus.

Follow route 31 to the intersection with High street, or route 23. This route leads northward to Marion.

INDICT 2 IN DEATH OF TOBACCO HEIR

Widow and Former Chum of Smith Reynolds Accused of Slaying Him.

York authorities to arrest Libby if they could find her.

The indictment charges Smith's widow and his friend, "on or about the sixth day of July, 1932, with force and arms at, and in the aforesaid county, did unlawfully, wilfully, feloniously, premeditatedly, of their malice aforethought, kill and murder Smith Reynolds, contrary to the form of the statute, in such cases made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the state."

When the case will be brought to trial is not known. The next regular term is scheduled to open Oct. 3. Because of a crowded docket, a special term before then is probable.

The two witnesses who testified before the grand jury yesterday were Sheriff Scott and Stewart Warnken, manager of the Reynolds estate.

Reynolds and Libby were married, after an ardent courtship, at Monroe, Mich., but it was not immediately announced. Their marriage took place but six days after Smith's first wife, Anne Cannon Reynolds, member of the wealthy North Carolina towel manufacturing family, secured a divorce.

Estimate of Estate

Smith settled $1,000,000 on his first wife and their baby daughter.

Young Reynolds' estate, held in trust for him because he was a minor, is expected to aggregate $15,000,000. Through her father, Libby recently asked Smith's uncle to serve as executor.

Libby and Walker, who was at "Reynolda," the Reynolds estate, the night of the shooting, were principal witnesses at the inquest.

The young widow testified her husband had often threatened suicide. Walker said a few minutes before Smith went to an upstairs sleeping porch he tossed him his pocketbook with the remark, "I'm going to end it all."

On the night of July 5 the Reynolds entertained at a birthday dinner in honor of a friend. A few friends were there, including several prominent Winston-Salem young people.

Reynolds was shot shortly after 4 a. m., it was testified. Rushed to a hospital, he died there at 5:25 a. m.

In pointing out what he said was inconsistent testimony, Sheriff Scott said Walker and other witnesses testified they found no pistol on the sleeping porch where Reynolds was shot. Other witnesses said the pistol was found on the floor in plain view four hours later.

The bullet that killed the heir has never been found. Its course was downward through his head, from right to left. A hole was found in a screen six feet from the floor. Scott said it would have been impossible for Reynolds to have fired the bullet which ranged downward.

Youth Recovering.

John Thomas Stover, 18, of Marion R. F. D. No. 2, who underwent a mastoid operation three weeks ago following a narrow escape from drowning, is recovering rapidly, his physician said today. About six weeks ago, he slipped into a deep hole while wading with companions in a creek north of here, and was rescued by his playmates after [illegible] resulting from the [illegible] made the operation necessary.

70 MARION BOYS TO SEE RED BIRDS PLAY

Y Honor Winners To Be Guests of Larry McPhail at Columbus.

Seventy boys who have won honors at the various Y. M. C. A. playgrounds this summer, will be the guests of Larry MacPhail, president of the Columbus baseball club, when the Red Birds play the Kansas City Blues at the Red Bird's stadium in Columbus Wednesday afternoon. It was announced today by C. Carl May, boys' work secretary at the Y, who has been in charge of the playgrounds this summer.

The boys who will be taken to Columbus by members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and by merchants who have volunteered the use of their automobiles, have won honors in nature study, sportsmanship and in games and contests of various kinds.

The boys' secretary also announced the closing of the playgrounds next week with the expiration of the 10-week period. The playground program will close with a soft-ball tournament for the younger boys at the Central Junior High school building Friday afternoon.

Those who have won honors at the playgrounds in addition to attending the ball game Wednesday afternoon will also be awarded caps and emblems as a part of the closing program next week.

Five hundred boys registered at the four playgrounds this summer, the secretary said, an increase of 66 over last year. Playgrounds were operated at the Marion Steam Shovel grounds on Uncapher avenue, at the Harding field in southeast Marion, at the Huber field near the plant of the Huber Mfg. Co., and at Lincoln park.

member of the Woman's league, Mummers Dramatic society, Y. W. C. A., Varsity vanities, French club, History club, and took part in Greek games and interclass athletics.

William Fields, a former Cincinnati theatrical man, tells how she entered the show business. Fields was connected with the Greenwich Follies, playing Cincinnati in 1926, when Libby applied to Paul Hillman, manager of the show. There was a vacancy in the chorus, and she was given the job.

Soon she took the place of Rosalie Claire, the comedienne of the show. Then she replaced Florence Moore at the Shubert in New York.

The slip of a surgeon's knife, it was believed, ruined her voice for singing, but by accident she discovered that her odd contralto put a new "blues" note in "blues songs." She became famous with her "Moanin' Low" and "Body and Soul."

HEARING ON SCHOOL BUDGET SCHEDULED

Public Session Will Be Held by Board Tonight.

A public hearing on the 1933 budget for the city schools will be held tonight at 7:30 by the board of education in its office in Harding High school.

The budget calls for $369,692 for operating expenses of the school next year, a reduction of $37,868 from the amount asked for 1932.

If no objections to the budget develop during the hearing, it probably will be approved by the board and certified to the county budget commission for use in making up the 1933 tax rates.

ONE WOMAN

Women are good judges of value. And they're not easily fooled. They know the difference between "cheap" things and a worth while article at a low price.

That's why so many women of this community come here for jewelry, watches and silverware of the finer kind. Their good judgment tells them that they get more for their money.

Drop in yourself some day—then pass the good word along to your friends.

AFFAIRS OF STATE BORE BOY RULER, 12

India Maharajah Prefers Mechanics To Running Government.

By International News Service

LONDON—There is a 12-year-old boy, ruler of a quarter of a million people and of 928 square miles of India, who would swap his army, police, guns, salutes, and palaces for one real railway engine.

He is His Highness Pratap Singh, Minor Maharajah of Nabha, who visited London with the Maharanee of Nabha, his mother, after an extensive journey on the continent.

His principal reason for coming here has been to find out how the wheels go round — the wheels of motor cars, engines, of almost anything mechanical.

Completely oblivious of his 12 field guns, his 50 artillerymen, his 560 cavalry, his 1,250 infantry, and his palaces, he pestered a chauffeur all one afternoon concerning a car, and its engine.

That is all he wants. In London he visited every museum of science, and every exhibition of mechanics that he could find.

Except for his turban and dark complexion he has the eager curiosity and the winning naturalness of any little schoolboy. Only he isn't a school-boy yet. If he has anything to say about it he will attend school in London.

Meanwhile he is mentally a full-time apprentice engineer. Although he has little time for the affairs of his kingdom, he carries on with with wheels in every possible connection.

BOYS 10 AND 13 LASSO BIG BEAR

By United Press

MONTROSE, Col.—Alfred Gray, 10, and his brother Nick, 13, lassoed a 400-pound bear.

The boys were riding through the mountains, near here, when they spied the bear lumbering through the woods. The youngsters, on horseback, gave chase.

Well-aimed lassoes caught the bear on the head, and then a real battle began.

The young hunters succeeded in snubbing the fariats to trees. One rope slipped.

Young Alfred marched to the head of the bear, and adjusted the rope to hold the prisoner. The bear's flying paws caught the boy on the face, and he was severely scratched.

The elder Gray, who was riding some distance behind his sons, appeared on the scene, and killed the bear.

Palace Theater Will Open Saturday; Closed 7 Weeks

Jack Holt in "War Correspondent" Will Be First Picture Shown After Young Co. Regains Control; Marion Resumes Operations Today.

The Palace theater will reopen Saturday night after a seven-week period of inactivity.

The Marion theater, which was closed several weeks before the Palace, was reopened this afternoon.

Both theaters are to be reopened by the Young Amusement Co., under management of Al W. Wolf. The opening of the Palace Saturday again will give Marion four theaters, including the Ohio and the State.

The Palace theater will present "War Correspondent" showing Saturday at 8:15. Special music for the Saturday and Sunday programs will be furnished by a concert orchestra directed by Bertram D. Myers.

"War Correspondent" has a love story plot worked out in a background of Chinese battlefields, featuring Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Ralph Graves. Holt and Graves are the two actors who were bitter rivals in "Flight," "Dirigible" and "Submarine."

The Marion opened today with "One-Man Law," a western play starring Buck Jones. Official pictures of the wrestling match between Strangler Lewis and Dick Shikat, taken at the ringside in Madison Square Garden, N. Y., also were shown.

Both the Marion and the Palace will offer three shows a week, changing programs on Sunday, Tuesday and Friday nights, Mr. Wolf said. Both theaters will run continuously from 1 p. m. to closing time on Saturdays and Sundays.

Both theaters have been conditioned for the reopening during the last few weeks, Mr. Wolf said.

WILL PREACH TRIAL SERMON SUNDAY

He was graduated from the Claridon High school in 1928.

TEXAS NEWSPAPER HAS LONG RECORD

By The Associated Press

PALO PINTO, Tex.—The Palo Pinto County Star, owned and edited by J. C. Son, 84, recently has observed its fifty-sixth birthday and can look back over what is probably the most unusual newspaper record in the country.

Son founded the paper in 1876 and has been its active head ever since. Son's period of service on the publication is equalled only by the ancient George Washington hand press that still prints the newspaper.

The press was hauled by oxteam from Fort Smith several years before a railroad was built in this section and despite its more than half a century of service continues on the job.

Son is the oldest editor in Texas in point of service and has been elected for life as vice president of the Texas Editorial association.

Chevalier Dropped Clown Dress To Become Star of Stage, Screen

By International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — The impulsive decision of the moment made a Parisian "burlesque" entertainer into one of the greatest of today's stars of stage and screen.

A low paid performer in a cheap music hall got tired one day of beduubing himself with paint and donning ridiculous clothes for the amusement of the Paris rabble.

So he went on the stage without any make-up. He was an instant success.

His name is Maurice Chevalier.

Maurice took a chance on the eventful day when he discarded his bulbous nose and the clownish clothes. If he had failed to impress his audience, he probably never would have had the courage to try again.

"You see, I was a comique for many years," he explained just before leaving for Europe on a vacation.

"I tell you, I was like the burlesque fellow with all those funny clothes and face. I sang funny songs and did comic dances and I was very much at home.

"I had never been without those funny things and the audience never knew me any other way.

"I used to say to myself, 'Maurice, what would those people do if you did not use this make-up? How would you feel? Would they laugh? Would you be at home?'

"And I could not answer myself. I wanted to try and see how it would be, but no, I was afraid.

"Then, one night, when I was making up I stopped suddenly and changed my mind. Before I can back out, I have all the plaster from my face and am putting on just what you call the juvenile make-up.

"In my dressing room is my Tuxedo and I put it on. Then, I think, I will wear a hat. But what hat? I try lots of kinds. But none will do, I think, but the straw hat. With a Tuxedo it looks like a—what shall we say—a wink? Yes, something gay and demonair.

"And so I go out to the stage. But what happens when I come on? No one applauds! No one smiles

"My heart sinks, but I must sing. Then I see the faces change. Then someone calls my name. I smile and laugh and nod back as though to say, 'Yes, it's me.'

"After that I see how foolish I have been always to play the comique and not Maurice. Little by little I drop my funny man.

"It is a lesson I have learned that one should not seek protection in artificialities."

Making Ends Meet.

The annual task of budget-making is under way among public officials of Marion county, as it is throughout the state of Ohio.

The first of the main budgets to be made public here is that of the county government and it shows a decrease of $45,000 under the amount for 1932. Similar and probably larger proportionate decreases are likely in some of the subdivisions, such as municipalities and school districts.

Conditions existing now are not the kind that tend to make office-holding a pleasure. The job is comparatively easy when funds are ample and worry over how to make ends meet is either non-existent or at a minimum. But no such situation prevails now. Government faces virtually the same circumstances that confront many individuals and private enterprises that find their incomes greatly curtailed. A vigorous scratching of heads for the exercise of brains is necessary to solve the problem of finance.

And like many private business enterprises, government is paying the penalty for past extravagance and failure to prepare for slack times. There are a few scattered instances of communities where government functions are not hampered by lack of funds at this time. Through some strange and unexplainable reasoning, the officials in these rare places had sufficient foresight to lay aside reserves or otherwise to fortify their resources in the so-called prosperity era and now have means to carry them through the depression period.

Although these remarkable communities are the sole beneficiaries of their wisdom at this time, their experience can and should yield profits for all others throughout the county in the future. The officials of these wise and fortunate localities should be prevailed upon to tell the nation how it was done. The chances are that it was simply a case of careful, common sense management by level-headed men, probably not any of them versed in the complicated principles of governmental science that have so long been expounded by learned theorists who frequently overlook the interests of the taxpayer.

The fact that there are so few communities where government is not now involved in financial difficulties indicates that censure can not justifiably be aimed at any one spot in the country. All seem to be suffering from the effects of a common malady. And all will revive from the same treatment and remedy.

While the problem of applying the remedy is primarily up to government officials, the public is certain to taste the pill and find it not entirely palatable. There will have to be a curtailment of some branches of public service, some of which may cause the people discomfort and inconvenience. But if the cure is speedy and effective and shows its results in the best possible service at the lowest possible tax cost, all will gladly submit to the course of treatment.

The Answer Nobody Knows.

Somehow, sometime the United States will be forced to answer the question: What is intoxicating? Strange as it may seem, after at least two decades of intense discussion of prohibition and its related problems no one knows exactly.

The Democratic promise of immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the Constitution means nothing until it can be stated definitely what actually is permissible under the Constitution. It is reasonable to expect, therefore, that Democrats will press eagerly for a definition as soon as possible.

The familiar phrase, ½ of 1 per cent, is commonly used as a basis, but even a superficial examination of its origin discloses the doubtfulness of its legal standing as the maximum for non-intoxicating beverages. Its source was the brewers, themselves, who employed it to bring certain malt liquors under a federal tax in the latter half of the 19th century. Congress accepted its definition, which naturally continued in use when prohibition became effective, it being the only one available.

It has no backing, however, in science or law. Prohibitionists have upheld it, in fact, because it represented to them an irreducible minimum, not because they could prove that all beverages containing more than ½ of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume were intoxicating. Their position was described by Andrew Volstead, co-author of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act, when he said: "This amendment was intended to apply generally and to prevent the sale of any liquor that will make anybody drunk. It is not only intoxication that this amendment seeks to prohibit, but the useless waste as well of unwanted millions in money that should go to provide luxuries, comforts and conveniences in the home."

The courts have upheld consistently the power of congress to set the permissible limit of alcoholic content. Democrats, as well as Republicans who advocate modification, will be seeking an extension of the disputed ½ of 1 per cent in the next session of the present congress and the new congress. Their chance of success is bettered by the absence of any determinable standard in a dispute which has occupied a vast part of the nation's attention for the last 20 years.

Five-Day Weeks.

There is every indication of a sustained trend toward shorter work days and weeks in industry. Both are accomplished facts in a number of large factories. They are being discussed widely; responsible authority has declared in favor of them. There are many points of resemblance between what is happening now and what happened in the period before wide adoption of the eight-hour day.

The natural tendency to consider such matters from a narrow viewpoint is productive of confusion, unfortunately. For instance, as each employer considers the possibility of using a shorter work day or a shorter week he is tempted to condemn or praise according to his individual view. His objections have to be assigned hearings according to their varying importance.

There are objections to the eight-hour day which never have been met. Thousands of employed people are not confined to a specified period of daily work; in most cases the nature of their employment forbids any such restriction. It is not reasonable, therefore, to condemn the general idea of shorter periods of labor because of specific instances in which it could not be applied.

President Hoover, who is considering a national conference on shorter hours in industry as one means of alleviating unemployment, is considering the possibilities from a national standpoint. As outlined at present, the conference would deal primarily with a five-day week, with a shorter work day as an alternative. There are many who doubt that important employers of labor ever will return again to full weeks and eight-hour days; the possibilities of beneficial shortening of working time that they suggest deserve study as free as possible from too violent objections by those who are opposed to the theory. These latter may be sure that much water will go under the bridge before theory can be transformed into fact.

Mighty Careful.

A telling blow to Jacob S. Coxey's hopes of gathering in presidential votes has been delivered by the most substantial member of the party which honored him with the nomination. Henrik Shipstead, senior member of Minnesota and keystone of the Farmer-Labor movement in his state, will have no part in the "general's" campaign. "I'm mighty careful whom I underwrite," is his brief explanation.

It's not that the senator has anything against the mayor of Massillon. He has heard that Mr. Coxey is a fine fellow, a point on which there is general agreement. The Farmer-Labor party, offspring of the Nonpartisan league, simply has nothing to gain by standing back of attempts to wade out into deep water. A presidential candidate is of no more use to it than "General" Coxey is to his city while stumping the golden west.

There is, of course, a difference of opinion on both ends of the comparison. There are Farmer-Laborers who will march to the polls and vote for Coxey; Minnesota's Senator Shipstead and Representative Kvale do not consider themselves accountable for what other branches of their party may choose to do. Similarly, there are people in Massillon who believe that the longer their mayor stays away the better off they will be. They, also, refuse to be held accountable for their brothers.

All in all the situation is a study in frustration. Farmer-Laborites will sacrifice their votes for the presidential candidacy of the mayor of Massillon. The mayor of Massillon will sacrifice his job for the privilege of being a presidential candidate. Senator Shipstead, a little irritated by it all, will go right ahead trying to improve the condition of farmers, irrespective of their folly in wasting time with a presidential candidate. Everyone, from Massillon westward to the last wheat field will be a little irritated that so much effort is destined to be wasted.

Does Texas Care?

Political Mcallists of Texas, among them the editor of The Texas Weekly, are trying to make their state ashamed of its support of "Ma" Ferguson by lashing it with scorn. One wonders how close the Fergusons, "Ma" and "Jim," are to martyrdom as their friends suffer nobly for them.

The issue, stoutly declares The Weekly, is whether or not the Democrats of Texas will vote for the restoration of proxy government. The choice is between Mrs. Ferguson, as her husband's puppet governor, and Governor Sterling. Obviously, the latter has not sold his administration to the people, but there are those who claim it is a bargain when Fergusonism is the alternative.

The cold dismissal of Mrs. Ferguson as a political puppet completely controlled by her husband, when given by a journal intensely interested in Texas and Texas Democracy, is a chilling hand on the warm hopes of all who await the fulfillment of perfect universal suffrage. Women, it is often said, have been the power behind the throne in many a government, but in Texas a man behind the throne of a woman is viewed with deep apprehension.

James E. Ferguson, shrewd politician, has tried hard to sell the idea with the slogan: Two for the price of one. Thoughtful Democrats, however, must be switching the words around to make it: One for the price of two. Search for recognition of any merit that may exist in the record of one of the nation's foremost woman officeholder is in vain.

Texas Democrats are encouraged to analyze the kind of government the Fergusons are prepared to give them—government which virtually places in the hands of a private citizen, bound by no oath and limited by no constitutional restrictions, the power of office. One doubts that they care to take the trouble. A governor-wife, they may reason, is no more helpless in the hands of her husband than a governor-husband is in the hands of his wife and his politician friends. After all, government by proxy is exceptional only when it is flaunted before people in a glaring example.

Comment of the Press

GRIT.

For a specimen of coolness and grit, read the story of Dr. Paul E. Belknap, young Topeka, Kas., physician, who was thrown from his automobile to a railroad track when the car bumped down an embankment. He was stunned and did not retain consciousness until a train ran over both his legs.

Then, realizing he was in danger of bleeding to death, he dragged himself to his wrecked car, felt in the darkness for his medical kit, found enough bandage material to make a tourniquet for one leg, tore up his shirt for another tourniquet, applied the two and then propped himself against a tree to wait for help, which came three hours later. Surgeons who amputated both his legs said he had a good chance to recover.

Surely a man with such nerve deserves to recover.—Columbus Citizen.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

Cod Liver Oil an Aid in Halting Rickets.

In spite of advances made in the study of nutritional disorders, rickets continues to be one of the tragedies of childhood. The disease can be eliminated only when every parent takes advantage of what has been learned by medical science.

Rickets, one of the nutritional diseases of children, is caused by absence of sunlight and lack of phosphorus and lime in the diet. When the diet is deficient in vitamin D, there is improper growth and development of the muscles.

The disease can be prevented when the diet contains an abundant supply of vitamin D, or when the body is exposed to sunlight. When it is not possible to give the child sufficient sunlight, the diet must be regulated to supply the necessary protective substances.

Cod Liver Oil Aids

Fortunately, cod liver oil contains an abundant supply of vitamin D. That is why all baby specialists advise giving cod liver oil to every growing child as early as the sixth week, and that it be continued through the second year.

Because the early symptoms of rickets are overlooked, a child may have rickets for a long time without the parent realizing it. Though the disease is not fatal, it undermines the health and growth of the child. Every restless and irritable child that does not show normal progress in growth and development should be suspected of having rickets.

Infants with rickets constantly turn their heads from side to side. They sweat freely, have poor appetite and many digestive disturbances.

Importance of Prevention

Unfortunately, when the disease is neglected certain changes occur in the bony structure of the body, due to lack of lime and phosphorus. The skull may become square in shape and show marked ridges. Bony swellings may be found on the ribs. The wrists are enlarged and soft. Lack of strength in the leg bones results in bowlegs or knock-knee. Occasionally abnormal curvature of the spine results from rickets.

The importance of preventing rickets and of discovering it in its early stages can not be overemphasized. Please bear in mind the value and importance of sunlight and cod liver oil in promoting the welfare of children. — Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Saturday, Aug. 5, 1922.

News reports from Washington stated that while the threat of an extension of the railway strike far beyond its present limits overshadowed the country, President Harding renewed his personal efforts to bring an end to the critical situation. He held an hour's conference with railway officials and was reported to have submitted some new proposals.

The second annual outing of the employes of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. was held at Lincoln park with more than 1,000 in attendance. Various athletic contests made up the day's program. In a baseball game between the Marion Steam Shovel team and the Mansfield Tin Plate team, Mansfield won by a score of 8-3. Colegrove and Lawrence were the battery for Marion.

In the weekly Sunday School league baseball games, Trinity Baptist won from Epworth, 10-9. First Memorial defeated Calvary 21-4 and Greenwood Evangelical won against Wesley M. E., 7-6.

Mrs. Belle Neely, 60, wife of Mayor George W. Neely, died at the City hospital following an operation for removal of gallstones. She had been ill about six weeks.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ora DeWees of Avondale avenue.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kaelber of Waldo.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Monday, Aug. 5, 1912.

A report of an agricultural survey made throughout the country indicated that the season would bring an unusually large crop yield. The forecast showed prospects of 700,000,000 bushels of wheat, 2,900,000,000 bushels of corn and 1,200,000,000 bushels of oats, also large potato and hay crops. The total value of these five crops was estimated at $3,600,000,000, or about $260,000,000 above the preceding year.

Police Lieutenant Charles A. Becker was arraigned in New York City charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. After arguments of counsel, the hearing was adjourned until Aug. 7.

The Marion County board of elections met and reorganized by electing Charles M. Tobin, Republican, as chairman, succeeding Martin J. Burke, Democrat, and Elmer J. Schoenlaub, Democrat, as clerk, succeeding James E. Messenger, Republican.

Mrs. H. S. Ruhl gave a party at her home on Cherry street in celebration of the sixth birthday anniversary of her son Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Eckerson entertained a company of friends at their home on Blaine avenue in honor of their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Drake of Albany, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John Feuser entertained a company of relatives at their home on South State street in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hook of White Water, Kas.

Fourteen delegates, representing Free Baptist churches in Marion county, met at Trinity Baptist church and decided to defer forming a Marion Baptist association until Aug. 27 when the Mt. Vernon association would convene at Prospect.

Strange but True

Of the nearly 85,000 miles of highways in the Union of South Africa only about 25,000 miles are improved roads and only some 700 miles are of better types.

The Japanese government has taken over the raw milk conditioning plant at Kobe as a step toward more complete official grading of milk for export.

Preliminary returns of the census taken in Canada in June indicate that 21 cities and 33 towns increased their population in the last ten years while there were declines in four cities and 60 towns.

Manchuria now has more than 3500 miles of standard and broad gauge railways, exclusive of lines operated privately by mining and lumber companies, and 250 miles are under construction.

Three countries own the bulk of the world's merchant shipping, the United States, Great Britain and Norway and only the last increased its tonnage in the year ending with June.

HANNA-McKISSON FIGHT.

The late Representative Thomas R. Smith of Delaware was a member of the 73rd general assembly whose early sessions were turbulent with the excitement of the election of a United States senator to succeed John Sherman, resigned to accept an appointment to President McKinley's cabinet. This assembly was from 1898 to 1900.

The anti-Hanna Republicans, by joining the Democrats, were able to organize the legislature. On the house side, Harry C. Mason of Cleveland was made speaker. Evan H. Davis, father of former Governor Harry L. Davis, was a member of the Cuyahoga delegation.

The anti-Hanna forces were marshalled behind the candidacy of Mayor Robert E. McKisson of Cleveland. In the senate, Hanna received 17 votes to 18 for McKisson. In the house, Hanna got 56 to McKisson's 53. One vote was cast for John J. Leniz. There being no majority for either candidate, the two branches met on the following day to vote. There Hanna got 73 votes, McKisson 71 and Lentz one, giving the election to Hanna by a narrow margin.

Mildred Bailey and Kate Smith should enter a beam-tipping contest. What became of opal tie pins? Irving Berlin is always credited with originating ragtime. Ben Harney started it two years before, authoring "Mr. Johnson, Turn Me Loose." Those salmon pink shirts with green ties.

At the Cherry Lane theater, in The Village, when a person stops at the box office to ask a question, he or she is asked to see the play inside as a guest. Also, a few steps from Cherry Lane, I saw a decorative jewelry shop where those buying lollipops buy "slave bracelets."

Somebody told me the majority of taxi-drivers carry a brick at their feet in the front seat. It is a weapon of defense not illegal to tote. I peeked into it in the neighborhood of Grand Central. Sure, had bricks.

A pitchman in shiny serge near the old Belmont site was vending from his "tripes and kidder"—tripe on a tripod—during the dinner lull. Trade was in utter stagnation but he kept up his sing-song spiel. Finally some one moseyed out of the Grand Central opposite and sauntered toward him. "Ah," he cried to no one in particular, "the mob in full cry!"—Copyright, 1932, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

WHAT WIVES DON'T TELL.

A man usually has only one reason for getting married—and half the time he can't remember what that was!

A woman, on the other hand, may have half a dozen reasons—and she could tell you every one of them. But she won't!

When you glance around at an assorted group of your friends' husbands, you may be inclined to wonder how and why their wives came to choose them out of the whole wide world. But, there's a reason!

When a woman stands at the altar and gazes up into a man's eyes, she sees in him exactly what she's looking for—and a lot of things, besides, that you never imagined.

It may be that she sees "God's Gift to Women"—and it may be that she sees merely "an answer to prayer," an escape from the office grind, the daily monotony and the family nagging.

* * *

It may be that she sees in him a Prince Charming, a Conquering Hero or a devastating caveman. Or she may see in him merely some one to mother, to nurse, to coddle or to "reform." Some one whose ways need mending, whose digestion needs watching, whose backbone needs stiffening, and whose soul—or whose money—needs saving.

It may be that she sees in him a life-companion, a pal and a running-mate, some one with whom to build a career, a home and a complete life.

Or it may be that she sees only a shining adventure, a gay experiment, and a bright and irresistible playmate.

She may see a fascinating "man about-town"—the Perfect Escort and Ideal Dinner-companion; some one to go places with; some one to act as scene shifter, chorus and background; some one to decorate the head of her dinner-table, pour the cocktails, and give the house a "finished look."

Or she may see merely a man-about-the-house, to punctuate the day, fix the radio, take down the screens and make the dinner worth getting.

It may be that she sees in him the fulfillment of all her youth and glamorous dreams. Or it may be that she sees merely an end to her doubts and disappointments and heartaches. A surcease from man-chase—and a swell chance to put over a big show-wedding.

You never can tell.

Because, while marriage is often merely an accident or an incident to a man, it is to a woman a carefully premeditated step for a definite purpose. And, she sees in the man who's putting the platinum band on her finger, exactly what she's looking for!—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Daily Talk to Parents

BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

MAGIC THINKING.

A two-year-old boy blows mighty breaths at the sky to "blow down the airplane," he explains, or to "put out the moon."

He blows at street lights for the same reason and at dogs to blow them away. The fact that his efforts never meet with the slightest success in no way disturbs him. He blows lustily and with every evidence of being pleased with himself.

It is characteristic of all primitive thinking, whether among savages or among children, to believe in the power of wishes, the omnipotence of thoughts, in the efficacy of an obviously ineffectual act.

Indeed, among certain primitive people when a man sickens and dies it is thought that his death is caused by the magic or merely by the evil wishes of an enemy.

Children, then, believe that their wishes have power. This belief explains the fact that they labor under an enormous burden of guilt when some evil wish of theirs materializes.

In a moment of rage one may wish some one dead. Then, lo and behold, in a few days the person lies in bed with fever and one is appalled because it is clear that the thing wished is coming true.

How can one feel but that one's wish has brought it all about? How heavy is the conviction of sin carried?

This is, of course, the kind of thing too dreadful to admit even to oneself. One tries to wipe it out by being extra good.

Much of the guilty feeling which people carry all through life has no other basis than this early belief in the magic of an evil wish.

Why Boil Away COSTLY FRUIT JUICE?

ASKS THIS CHAMPION JELLY MAKER

. . . Why not turn every last bit into delicious tasting jam . . . and thus save 2½¢ per glass?

— Mrs. J. O. Schon
NEBRASKA STATE JELLY CHAMPION

"This year's fruit is the finest and cheapest we have had in years. And I know that hundreds of women reading this newspaper are going to take advantage of this fact and put up jams and jellies for the long winter months ahead.

"And I hope they will all use Certo! For Certo will save them, just as it saves me, a really considerable amount of money.

"With Certo, you see, only 1 minute's hard boiling time is necessary to make jelly from any fruit . . . and for most fruits even less.

"And thus hardly a single bit of juice has time to boil away in wasteful steam . . . with the result that you get one-half again more glasses from the same amount of fruit. Last year this saved me from 3 to 5¢ on every glass of jam or jelly that I made.

"And, of course, this Certo one-minute boil saves considerable time too. Indeed, I find it an easy matter to make a full batch of jelly in 12 minutes from the time I put my fruit juice and sugar on to cook."

Mrs. Schon's Certo-made jellies and jams have been awarded an almost endless succession of State Fair prizes during the past few seasons, for flavor, texture and color. In the last three years she has won 15 prizes at the Nebraska State Fair. And she is only one of the 5,000,000 jelly makers who are using this magical product.

Why don't you do as Mrs. Schon suggests and order a supply of Certo today with your fruit and other jelly making supplies? Simply follow carefully the Certo recipes that come in the booklet attached to every Certo bottle . . . and you can't go wrong. Don't delay. Get your bottle of Certo from your grocer today. It is a product of General Foods Corporation.

Are you handicapped at the office?

To put in a full day's work, you need a full man's strength. A man, half-sick from constipation, has less chance to succeed in today's keen competition.

This insidious condition often causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the edge from your working hours.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently cleans the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs — so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
